Re: James Gafford

To Whom It May Concern:

As president of Omnirax Furniture Company, I have had the pleasure to know James Gafford for over 10 years. I wish to sing his praises as he will certainly be an asset to any organization that utilizes his skills. We manufactured Broadcast, Office and Technical furniture in Sausalito, CA. We outfitted radio stations all over the country with specialized furniture that is custom built to fit radio station studios with specifics for housing electronic gear. We began making our Technical furniture for the music industry in the 1980s and branched into broadcast furniture in 2004, before the time that James came on in April, 2013. In 2016 we launched a line of office furniture called WeDesk. Unfortunately, the pandemic, inflation and other factors have changed the nature of things and we have shut our doors. The purpose of this letter is to let you know what an asset James has been for Omnirax and how much I believe he will be an asset for any company employing CAD/CAM manufacturing or one with a need for an expert AutoCAD skill set.

James' title was CAD Detailer, but that was only the tip of the iceberg. As his title would indicate, his primary job was preparing and processing 2d cad geometry into G-Code programs used by our KOMO CNC Router. But he did so much more. He assisted the Chief Design Officer with all manner of CAD work, converting 2d designs into 3d assemblies, creating CAD "quivers" for ease of parts creation, devising and overseeing all CAD Standards throughout the company, created assembly instructions for our custom and standard products, assisted with marketing art work in Photoshop, prepared logistics paperwork for outgoing shipments, generated price lists and other complicated forms and spreadsheets. He utilized AutoCAD, Photoshop, Adobe Acrobat, Quickbooks Enterprise Solutions and the Microsoft Office Suite extensively within our employ. He has an incredible eye for detail, an unparalleled commitment to consistently providing impeccable work product, an inquisitive mind, and creativity well beyond his well-honed technical skillset.

James is a team player. He has always been willing to take on new things and help wherever he could. He has been a consistent employee, coming to work on time for years, plans his vacations in advance, and works diligently throughout the day. He is reliable, skilled, and I highly recommend him. Please feel free to contact me, or my Chief Design Officer David Holland who has worked closely with James as well, if you wish to have any further information.

Sincerely,
